The Daily Press.

HONGKONG, JULY 11th, 1906.

The sometimes heard complaint that the romance of the sea has gone with the wind-blown ships is not to be instantly admitted. The question arises if the romance has not merely changed in form, to its betterment. Those who paddled along the coast in coracles might as justly have complained of the ocean-going galleons, which added wonderfully to this aspect of seafaring; and when looked at rightly, there is no dearth of romance about the new Cunard Lusitania. The matter-of-fact statements now appearing in the public press would a few years ago have come quite appropriately from the pen of JULES VERNE, without detracting from our admiration of his wonderful imaginative gifts. In more length, the Cunarder launched last month offers some points for ejaculations of amazement. A London paper points out that the combined frontages of the Hotel Cecil and the Savoy equal only half her length. If an attempt were made to get her into the Cosmopolitan Dock, by the time her stem touched the inner Tai-kok-tsu end, there would still be two funnels and a full half her length showing outside. The biggest basin of the Hongkong and Whampoa Dock Company would not conceal her; there would be over two hundred feet, enough for a fair-sized steamer, left outside. There is not enough room, by more than a hundred feet, for the Lusitania to lie between Murray Pier and the Wardley Street Wharf; but wharf accommodation might just be managed by removing Blake Pier and the Lee House Street Pier, and mooring one end to Douglas Pier and the other to the Wardley

Street Wharf. A glance at the scale-map in the Directory and Chronicle shows that the Lusitania on land would just span the length between Blake Pier and the Bowling Club. She is nearly three times the length of the Hongkong Hotel, and stands a little higher. The Lusitania, in short, is eighty feet longer than any vessel now afloat. As her calculated speed is to be twenty-four to twenty-five knots an hour, or about a knot more than the German record, her power has to be expressed in marvellous figures. Her turbines must develop 38,000 h.p., or just 30,000 h.p. more than the s.s. Kaiser Wilhelm II. has got. The biggest steamers that have visited Hongkong have already given us an idea of the deceptive appearance such monsters present when afloat. The eye cannot realise for us their dimensions, so carefully are the proportions worked out. The "slender-looking funnels" of the Lusitania, we read, are each large enough to allow two locomotives to pass each other inside. The masts are a couple of feet taller than the corner towers of St. Paul's Cathedral. She has normal accommodation for 1,300 third-class passengers, 500 second, and 550 first-class, in addition to a crew of about 800. This means that without undue straining of her capacity she could comfortably take away every white-skinned resident of Hongkong, as enumerated in the last census. It would be quite easy to get lost among the ramifying corridors of her eight floors and the electric lifts must be a necessity rather than a luxury. At the time when the Cunard Company decided to adopt turbines, H.M.S. Amethyst represented the greatest horsepower applied to marine turbines. For the Lusitania the required power is five times as great. "The step forward in power was practically as great," says Sir William White, in the engineering supplement of the Times, "as the total advance made gradually with reciprocating engines in from forty to fifty years." It is to a combination of State aid and private enterprise that this great advance in the shipbuilding art is due. There has been and is much division of opinion both as to the policy of the annual subsidy and the capital loan to the Cunard Company, and as to the real advantage to the Navy in the arrangement. Probably the experiment will be repeated; but, questions of policy apart, the result, if all goes well with the new venture, will be a benefit to the British people. The race for supremacy of speed appeals to their sporting instinct. Those who mourn for the romance of the sea have surely only to compare the circular craft of a few generations ago with this many-chambered floating hotel, to see that their mourning is vain. With the Dreadnought and the Lusitania there appears every justification for the claim now being proudly made in the papers, that Britannia once more rules the waves.

The 88th plague case was recorded yesterday.

The responsibility resting upon proofreaders has just been illustrated by a mistake in the Daily Graphic. It was only the insertion of a comma instead of a full point, but it made the Yellow River Bridge 1,888 miles long, instead of 1,883 miles.

The Ipswich Guardian intends to buy a piano, at a cost of £13, for the workhouse inmates. A suggestion that a harmonium would be more appropriate was rejected. It being pointed out that the old people were very fond of comic songs, and had got tired of hymns, and comic songs could not very well be sung to harmonium accompaniments.

A telegram to the New York Herald from Los Angeles stated that eight tenders of the Casaca Viois (reported in our telegraphic column at the time) had been executed by a volley of rifles. The mining company's losses do not exceed 500,000 dollars. Work was to be resumed within a week. Martial law was declared and the situation controlled by troops. Further trouble was not expected. The rioters, it may be remembered, practically destroyed the whole town with dynamite.

Reuter's New York correspondent telegraphs that, addressing the coloured students of the Hampton Institute, at Hampton (Virginia), Mr. Roosevelt declared that industrial education was best for the average negro and for the average white man. "The wrong twist," the President added, "given to our education in the past is largely responsible for the present unhealthy development of the city at the expense of the country. No nation has been permanently great whose city population was enormous as compared with its country population."

The many friends of Mr. H. W. Merrill will regret to hear of his untimely end at the early age of 30. Mr. Merrill was taken to the Government Civil Hospital on the 4th instant, where it was found he had contracted an attack of typhoid fever, from which he died yesterday. He was an assistant in the town office of the Quarry Bay Sugar Works, and was a well-known amateur photographer, his photos in Messrs. Loong King's exhibition, and in a later exhibition at Shanghai, winning commendations from experts in the art.

The world's deepest gold mine is in Australia. Shafra have been sunk at Bendigo, Victoria, to a depth of over three-quarters of a mile, and the quartz obtained shows a yield of gold equal to an ounce per ton.

A youth who threw himself down the volcano at Asama left a letter, says the Telegraph's Tokyo correspondent, in which he said: "Suffering a feeling of despair impels me to throw myself into the crater of volcanoes Asama, thus winning a splendid death, and ascending the mountain's smoke to a lofty life above the sky."

The Daily Graphic of June 2nd said:—From Saturday until Monday the West Kent Volunteers are carrying out an interesting series of manoeuvres in conjunction with the mounted infantry of the Queen's Westminsters. The operations are to be carried out in the tract of country within the four corners formed by the towns of Croydon, Dartford, Reigate and Sevenoaks, and the chess will continue from Saturday afternoon until Monday evening. It will be the object of the West Kent men, who will be on foot, to elude the mounted infantry, and there is an understanding that neither side will avail itself of outside sources of information. Each side will camp out, taking its own tents, cooking apparatus, etc., and accompanying the Volunteers will be several officers from the Regulars, who have taken much interest in the operations.

The embarrassments which those who gave him his degree have heaped upon Dr. Clifford have been avoided by the Rev. F. B. Meyer, who begged most earnestly the other year not to be made a Doctor of Divinity. "I am not a scholar in the academic sense of the word," he argued, and remains un-Doctored. Not all men are so modest. A worthy man of Sir Archibald Geikie's acquaintance, on entertaining a number of members of the British Association, assumed for the occasion "L.F.P." as an addition to his name. What on earth did he mean? his friends asked him. His explanation was simple. He had seen that all the men who were going to be his guests wrote after their names F.R.S., F.C.S., L.L.D., or something of that sort, so he felt it incumbent upon him to do an alphabetical adornment for the occasion. "But what does 'L.F.P.' mean?" they asked. "Oh! that stands for 'Lately free Pauper,'" was the reply.

Following is a sample of London humour.—We may be let us prophesy with due caution on the eve of a social revolution. Perhaps the fashionable world is preparing to bid a long farewell to Homburg and Marienbad and all the other "burgs" and "bads" which, boast their mineral springs and infallible cures. A rival "cure" has been opened up, not yet in full glory, but with the possibilities of greatness. A mineral spring has been tapped in the Old Kent-road, the water of which, on analysis, is found to be of a most valuable character, and comparable to that of Tunbridge Wells. This, of course, is putting it mildly. It is impossible to believe that, now the Old Kent-road has begun to compete for the smiles of fashion, it will be content with a Tunbridge Wells comparison. No! Looking into the future, with prophetic vision, we see the neighbourhood of the Elephant and Castle transformed into a handsome spa favoured by royalty and rejoicing in aristocracy. The Old Kent-road is evidently the Park-lane of the future—just as surely as the coming generation of coaters will "knock 'em in the New Park-lane."

CHINESE MILITARY METHODS.
Admiral Li-tsun, a friend of the Viceroy, has been appointed commander-in-chief of the Kwangtung troops. He knows nothing whatever of soldiering, and very little of navy work. Recently two Chinese submarines, for breach of discipline, had each an ear cut off.

CUSTOMS CONTROL.
It is reported that the authorities are officially notified that T.E. Tit Liang and Tong Shau-yu have assumed effective control of the I. M. Customs.

THE HANGKOW RAILWAY.
Further delay may be counted upon, now that it is known the engineer appointed by the Viceroy is engaged elsewhere, and cannot come.

—The Viceroy goes to Wampoa to-day, with a bodyguard of eighty soldiers.
ELECTRIC TRAM.
An engineering student just returned from America has been ordered to survey the reclama land for an electric tramway. The Viceroy intends to invite tenders of rolling stock, etc.

CHINESE LABOUR CARTOONS.

THE ILL MEN DO LIVES AFTER THEM.

The first number of the first illustrated paper ever published in Peking has just been issued called Peking Hui-pao, says a Times telegram dated June 1st. It is written in a popular style, and is obtaining a large circulation. A feature of the paper is the reproduction in an exaggerated form of the Chinese labour cartoons published at the last general election. Two published in this number represent a Chinese miner in rags and shabbiness, his face distorted with pain, tightly handcuffed across a beam. The letterpress explains that these cartoons illustrate the treatment to which miners are subjected in South Africa; and are reproduced from an English book. The paper announces that cartoons of a similar nature will be published at the next general election. Imagine the effect of such pictures distributed throughout the recruiting districts in North China. Rarely have anti-foreign publications from the Chinese themselves been more calculated to inflame resentment against foreigners than these infamous pictures copied from English election literature whose reproduction we can neither prevent nor protest against.

THE REDUCTION OF THE BRITISH ARMY.

LONDON, July 8th.
Mr. Churchill, speaking at Altrincham, said that the Government was determined to effect reductions in the army, to which they were absolutely pledged. Mr. Haldane's statement on the 12th inst. would show a substantial step in the path of military economy, with a diminution of the forces necessary for the national security.

GIANT CUNARDIER.

SUCCESSFUL LAUNCH OF THE "LUSITANIA."

The "Lusitania," the huge liner built for the Cunard Company, was last month successfully launched from the yard of Messrs. John Brown and Co., Clydebank, near Glasgow.

There was an enormous crowd, numbering about 25,000 persons.
Just as the great hull, weighing 15,000 tons, moved away from the bow platform, Mary Lady Inverclyde broke a bottle of wine on one of the bows, and named the ship "Lusitania." The vessel moved slowly at first, but very soon gained speed. She was taken in charge by seven tugs, and towed round to the fitting-out basin, which has been specially lengthened in order to provide room for her. There she will be supplied with boilers and turbines, and fitted out generally. The appearance of the vessel as she rolled fairly on the water was the signal for a resounding cheer from all quarters.

The "Lusitania," the dimensions of which have already been given, is the largest liner ever built. She is 185ft. longer than the "Carnegie" and "Carmania," at present the Cunard Company's largest ships, and 184ft. longer than the "Campania" and "Lucania," the company's fastest vessels.

The "Lusitania's" sister ship, "Mauretania," is now in course of construction at Wallsend-on-Tyne. The new Cunarders are intended to be at least a knot and a half faster than the "Kaiser Wilhelm II.," the present holder of the Atlantic record, and three knots faster than the "Campania" and "Lucania," at present the fastest vessels belonging to the British mercantile marine.

What makes the "Lusitania" different from all other vessels is her machinery. She will have four Parsons turbines driving four shafts and four propellers. The two shafts nearest the centre of the vessel will be driven by low pressure turbines, and the two outer by high pressure. The four turbines will be placed side by side, the great breadth of the vessel rendering this possible. The two inner shafts will carry, in addition to the low-pressure turbines, two sets of turbines, to be used only in stopping and manoeuvring.

At a luncheon following the launch Sir Charles McLaren said Great Britain, as mistress of the sea and leader in marine construction, could never have rested satisfied that Germany should hold, as at present, the blue ribbon of the Atlantic. The "Lusitania" would once more place Great Britain an easy first in marine architecture. With comparatively few alterations the "Lusitania" could be converted into the fastest and most powerful cruiser in the world. She would be ready for service in a year.

Mr. William Watson, Chairman of the Cunard Company, said they had been told that they were embarking upon a wild speculation; but that he did not believe. They were quite satisfied that everything done would be justified in action. The Cunard Company had started on a strong progressive policy, and he assured them that that policy would not be abandoned.

THE PHILIPPINE SPECIAL DELIVERY STAMP.

A stamp design has caused considerable trouble at the Government's Engraving Bureau at Washington, and incidentally illustrated one of the minor difficulties Uncle Sam is experiencing in framing the administration of his Philippine possessions. Since the occupation in 1898 of the current American stamp, with the word Philippines printed across the face, have been used temporarily in the islands, but a year ago it was decided that the Philippines should be supplied with a distinctive series. In the set order was a special delivery stamp of the same pattern as that in use at home, but with a native Filipino substituted for the delivery boy mounted on a bicycle. As the instructions to the engraver were not specific, the artist was left to his imagination, and a sketch, or model, was submitted portraying the Filipino special messenger as the modern Mercury hurrying on his task unencumbered by dress excepts his hat and a short shirt. The design escaped criticism in the War Department, which has control of insular affairs, but when the "disproportion" reached Manila the Philippine Postal Department characterized it as "impossible," and a revised design was demanded. The new stamp on its blue ground shows the same native special delivery messenger in a full uniform of white. Had some impressions of the original die got into circulation, there would have been another high-priced curiosity for the philatelist.

SUPREME COURT.

Tuesday, June 10th.

IN SUMMARY JURISDICTION.

BEFORE MR. A. G. WISE (JUDGE).

A COLLISION.
Chan Fok, master of junk No. 32721 H, sued Ho Yung, master of cargo boat No. 64, to recover the sum of $250, damages sustained by reason of negligent navigation on the part of the defendant.

Mr. J. H. Gardiner (of Mr. O. D. Thomson's office), who appeared for the plaintiff, stated that the junk had been surveyed, and the amount of damage certified by Mr. F. Hall, marine surveyor. The plaintiff's junk ran between Namlong and Hongkong. On April 20th it left the latter port, arriving here on the 23rd of the same month and anchoring in the junk anchorage. Shortly after eight o'clock on the same morning the defendant's boat arrived in port, and the wind and tide carried her on to the plaintiff's boat which was anchored at the time. His Lordship—In that case you cannot claim for negligence. It can only be an Act of God. Mr. Gardiner—I don't think it was an Act of God. It was bad manoeuvring on the part of the defendant.

His Lordship—Were you alongside a pier? Mr. Gardiner—No, the junk was anchored at the proper anchorage. Plaintiff's evidence was heard, and then the defendant was called. He said he anchored near the plaintiff's junk, and when the vessels swung they struck.

His Lordship—The junk was at anchor there before you, wasn't it? Defendant—Yes. His Lordship—Well, you must take up an anchorage where there is no chance of swinging into another boat.

Defendant—It is very hard to foresee such a thing. His Lordship—Quite so, but it is part of the business of the captain of a vessel. With regard to the damage done, defendant said it was very slight, and if a Chinaman had been engaged to effect repairs would have cost $10 only.

His Lordship—Well, why didn't you offer to repair the damage; you've had plenty of time? Defendant—Plaintiff did not inform me of it.

His Lordship—There will be judgment and costs for plaintiff, with immediate execution. THE COURT REMONSTRATED.
The case in which the Chung Shing Cheung firm and other creditors sued Shek Tsung-fat, and Chek Tsung-fat claimed, to recover debts due, again came on for hearing.

From previous proceedings it appeared that execution was obtained against the defendant, the owner of a junk, by one of the creditors, but that two men were found who answered to the same name as defendant, and it was a question as to which was liable. In the meantime the other creditors filed an interpleader and stayed the hands of the first creditor. The two men were called up, and the elder, a man with a battered nose, admitted that he owed money to certain of the creditors, one claim being denied. The younger man, who is a son of the first defendant, denied that his name was the same as that of the first man, though the bailiff pointed out he had answered to it before.

Mr. F. C. Barlow (of Messrs. Gillingham and Barlow) appeared for the creditors. Mr. R. A. Harding represented the claimant, and Mr. H. K. Holmes watched the proceedings on behalf of other creditors.

The defendants were called up and his Lordship asked the father if he owed the money. The first defendant said he did not.

His Lordship—Well, I have given judgment. Mr. Harding—I, in this particular action, does not admit the debt.

His Lordship—But he has already admitted it. They had better both go to gaol. Of course they are bound to do a first class swindle, father and son, that's clear.

The plaintiff was called, and said she sued the son.

His Lordship (to the son)—Do you own the junk? Defendant—No. His Lordship (to defendants)—Who is Shek Tsung-fat?

The father said he was. His Lordship (to the son)—What is your name? Defendant—Shek Yut-fat.

His Lordship—Ask the old man if he owes the money. The first defendant said he did not.

His Lordship—One of you says it. Who is it, the son or the father? (To Mr. Harding)—You want to get the younger man.

Mr. Harding—I am acting for the claimant, and the plaintiff says the younger man owes her the money.

His Lordship—I will give judgment against both of them.

Mr. Harding—If the plaintiff says the son owes her money, that is the one she looks to for payment.

His Lordship—They are both lying. Mr. Harding—I believe the explanation is—His Lordship—I know what the explanation is.

Mr. Harding—The son was persuaded by plaintiff to come to Court and admit the debt, and he would get the junk if he lost the action.

His Lordship—Well, are you willing to take judgment against the father?

Mr. Harding—My point is to prove that the son is not the owner of the junk. Judgment was given against him on the plaintiff's word, therefore under the attachment issued the junk cannot be touched.

Defendant—Plaintiff told me she would give me the junk later on.

His Lordship—Yes, I suppose that's what the game is. I don't think any of them will get the junk.

His Lordship—Did you quarrel with your father? Defendant—Yes.

His Lordship—Is that the result on his nose? Defendant—No.

His Lordship—Why did you tell a lie when the plaintiff asked you?

Defendant—Because she told me she would let me have the junk.

His Lordship—All his statements to me on Friday were not made under oath, and I shall take care that nothing goes on behind your backs. If you can come to arrangements about selling the junk, well and good. I want to get justice out of this thing, and if I could I would send the defendants to gaol. That is where they ought to be. The case is adjourned for a month, and I order the junk to be sold and the proceeds paid into Court with liberty for the creditors concerned to apply regarding costs afterwards.

Mr. Howell—Yes, my Lord.

His Lordship—Well, keep it till the expenses are paid.

Mr. Harding—I can prove that the father is the owner. I have witnesses.

His Lordship—You can call one if you like, but you won't get any judgment out of me. You can see what it is, the Court is being humbugged.

Mr. Harding—I would suggest that the junk be sold.

His Lordship—I don't mind that. I think it had better be sold and the money kept in Court. Of course the defendant will go into bankruptcy next week. I can see that. But that cannot happen till Thursday, and I shall take care that nothing goes on behind your backs. If you can come to arrangements about selling the junk, well and good. I want to get justice out of this thing, and if I could I would send the defendants to gaol. That is where they ought to be. The case is adjourned for a month, and I order the junk to be sold and the proceeds paid into Court with liberty for the creditors concerned to apply regarding costs afterwards.

POLICE COURT.

Tuesday, 10th July.

BEFORE MR. H. H. J. GOMPERTZ (FIRST POLICE MAGISTRATE).

AN INDECENT THIEF.

Mr. H. K. Holmes, solicitor, prosecuted a native for stealing the brass fittings from his motor boat lying outside his residence, 3, Kimberley Villas, Kowloon. It appeared that Mrs. Holmes from the window saw the defendant, who was under an umbrella, taking the brass fittings from the motor boat. She called the house-boy and ran out, but by this time the defendant was leaning against the wall looking as innocent as he could. Sentenced to six weeks' imprisonment.

BEFORE MR. F. A. HAZELDEN (SECOND POLICE MAGISTRATE).

RUSHING PASSENGERS.

Two ricksha coolies were charged with rushing passengers near the Star Ferry wharf and were each fined $10.

A NIGHTLY NOISE.

M. M. Russick, of 9 and 12, Upper Lascar Road, summoned a blacksmith who carried on business next door for keeping up a noise after hours. Complaints had the nuisance continued nightly. A fine of $25 was imposed.

OVERCROWDED LAUNCHES.

The master of the King Lee launch was fined $25 for carrying in excess of the number on his licence, and the master of the Tak Lee launch was fined a similar amount for not stopping when ordered by the police.

AN ABORTIVE CHARGE.

The hearing of the charge preferred by Carl Bruckner, engineer, as Lipscomb, against F.C. Taylor for assault was concluded, his Worship discharging defendant on the ground that the prosecution had failed to prove their case.

FIRE ON BOARD A P. AND O. LINER.

A correspondent who was on board the P. and O. steamer Siam when a fire occurred on board on May 24th in the Bay of Biscay, gives the following account of what happened. The Siam, which left Marseilles on May 24th, entered the Bay of Biscay on Monday evening. At half-past three on Tuesday morning a dense fog came on and the vessel slowed down. At a quarter to eight smoke was seen coming from a hatchway, and it was found that the cargo in hold No. 4 (aft) was on fire, just under the passengers' baggage-room. The flames got a firm hold of the cargo, which was mainly just and lined, and, although all the available hose was turned on, the fire reached the baggage, and also spread to the purser's room, the store-room, and the refrigeration chambers. The fog continued throughout the day and night, the steamer going at half-speed or less. About midnight it was announced that the fire had been got under, but the cargo had been almost entirely destroyed by fire and smoke. The hatchways were opened on Wednesday morning and the passengers' luggage was brought up. Almost every package was found to have been ruined by fire or water, and many packages were charred to cinders. In explanation of the soaking of part of the baggage, it was said that, finding it impossible to reach the fire effectively with the hose, the captain had ordered the sea-cocks to be opened so as to flood the hold. The Siam, with the whole of her stores destroyed (the fire had made a clean sweep of the store-rooms), made for Plymouth, where she arrived on Wednesday night at nine o'clock. She had then twenty-seven feet of water in the after-hold and her stern was deep in the water. The feeding of the passengers on the last day was difficult, but, fortunately, just enough provisions had been brought on deck before the store-rooms became unapproachable. Most of the passengers had not insured their baggage and have lost heavily.

HONGKONG SANITARY BOARD.

A meeting of the Sanitary Board was held on July 10th at the Board Room. The Hon. Mr. F. Clark (president), presided, and there were also present—Mr. Pearce, M.O.H., Hon. Mr. A. W. Bavin, Hon. Mr. W. Chatham, Mr. F. J. Buley, Mr. A. Shotton, Mr. H. Humphreys, Mr. Fung Wai-chun, Mr. Lau Chiu-pak, and Mr. G. A. Woodcock (secretary).

CEMETERY BYELAWS.

Mr. SHULTON HOOPER, principal of notice asked the following questions:—

1. Is a plan of each Chinese Cemetery showing the position of each grave space therein kept at or near to the cemetery, and at the office of the Sanitary Board as required by By-law No. 11?

2. If not, why not?

3. Whose duty is it to see that such plans are kept?

4. Is a register kept in the English and Chinese languages at or near each Chinese cemetery giving all particulars required in By-law No. 13 relating to cemeteries?

5. If not, why not?

6. Whose duty is it to see that such a register is kept?

The PRESIDENT replied as follows:—

1. A tracing showing the areas and boundaries of each Chinese cemetery is kept in the surveyor's office; no copy of such tracing is kept at the cemetery, as there is no office accommodation available; it has never been found practicable in the case of Chinese cemeteries to keep plans of sufficient size to show the situation of every grave space.

2. No answer.

3. The surveyor is supplied with timbers of the cemeteries by the Public Works Department, and is responsible for their safe custody.

4. The section keeps at the cemetery a record in Chinese of the situation of the graves and two complete registers, one in English and one in Chinese, giving all particulars specified, are kept in the secretary's office.

5. No answer.

6. The secretary.

Mr. HOOPER may take it that the by-laws are not carried out, because they are impracticable?

The PRESIDENT—That is so.

A CHINESE CEMETERY.

The reply from the Government relative to reserving a cemetery for Chinese was submitted Colonial Secretary's Office, 23rd June, 1906.

Sir,—With reference to your letter No. 101 of the 20th instant, transmitting a recommendation of the Sanitary Board that a cemetery be set apart for the use of Chinese who may wish to build tombs of a more permanent nature and larger than are allowed in a public cemetery, the area of such cemetery to be 150 acres and a high premium to be charged for each grave lot, I am to ask the Board to be good enough to suggest various suitable sites and the rate of premium for each grave and the size of each lot.

At the same time I am to indicate that the area of 150 acres mentioned in your letter is about one-eighth of the area of the city of Victoria and greater than the combined areas of Yuenai and Mong Kok-tai. I have the honour to be, sir, your obedient servant.

T. SEARON SMITH,

Colonial Secretary.

Mr. SHULTON HOOPER: The idea is good, but the area suggested seems very large.

Mr. H. HUMPHREYS: If the ground is far enough away from the city and the Chinese are willing to pay fancy prices, what does it matter about the size?

On the motion of the PRESIDENT, seconded by Hon. Mr. CHATHAM, a committee, consisting of the Registrar-General, the President, Mr. Fung Wai-chun, and Mr. Lau Chiu-pak, was appointed to submit sites to the approval of the Board, to be forwarded to the Government.

MARKET AT QUARRY BAY.

The following reply from the Government was read:—

Hongkong, 3rd June, 1906.

Sir,—Referring to your letter No. 65 of the 19th April last, I am directed to state for the information of the Sanitary Board that His Excellency the Governor has been pleased to direct that a sum of $15,000 shall be provisionally inserted in the Public Works Extraordinary Estimates for the year 1907 for the construction of a market containing stalls at Quarry Bay. I have the honour to be, sir, your obedient servant.

T. SEARON SMITH,

Colonial Secretary.

The Secretary.

Sanitary Board.

CROWN SOLICITOR'S AMBIGUOUS OPINION.

The minute by the Medical Officer of Health requesting that senior inspectors be authorized to enter premises and inspect food, together with the Crown Solicitor's opinion thereon, again came before the Board.

The PRESIDENT said the resolution moved at last meeting was simply re-circulated to show that the Crown Solicitor was of the opinion that that resolution was ultra vires.

Mr. HEWITT: The Crown Solicitor says that general instructions must be issued to inspectors.

The PRESIDENT: He says a specific letter in writing must be given by the secretary to each inspector included in the resolution.

Mr. HEWITT: It is a general authority, is it not?

The PRESIDENT: Yes.

Mr. HEWITT: I'd like to have that looked up. I'm certain my resolution was that it should be confined to specific cases. The Crown Solicitor speaks of general authority. I would not vote for general authority.

The Secretary—I understand it to mean that general authority is given to the secretary to issue those notices of authority which will be given to each individual inspector.

Mr. BAILEY: How does the general authority run?

The PRESIDENT: "When so instructed by the M.O.H. in writing."

Mr. BAILEY: That's all right.

Mr. HOOPER: That opens up the question again of being instructed by the M.O.H. The M.O.H. must be satisfied that there is sufficient doubt about the goodness of food for him to direct an inspector to go to a house. I understand that was not sufficient. What the M.O.H. wanted was to relegate his power. Now some inspector will have to go to him and he'll say, Here's a general authority for you to go to such a house to-day."

Mr. HEWITT: That's the way I read the Crown Solicitor's opinion.

The PRESIDENT suggested that a draft letter by the secretary be submitted to the Crown Solicitor before being delivered to inspectors.

Mr. HEWITT: And the Crown Solicitor informed that it shall not be a general authority.

This was agreed to.

LIMEWASHING PROCEDURE.

The Secretary submitted the following minute:—It was resolved at the meeting of the Board on the 26th June that the question of limewashing be considered by the Board with a view to either modifying or doing away with the existing regulations. As this matter is to be considered by the whole Board the Board may wish to have a special meeting, or in view of the fact that the papers dealing with the limewashing procedure have been forwarded to the Public Health and Building Ordinance Commission, to wait until the Commission have dealt with the matter.

The PRESIDENT intimated Mr. Humphreys do you wish this matter taken up at once or would you prefer to wait until you receive the reports from Europe that you spoke of?

Mr. HUMPHREYS: The matter, as far as I'm concerned, can wait until I have gone into the question further, or at all events until it is decided whether the Commission are going to take up the subject of limewashing.

Mr. HEWITT wrote that this matter would be dealt with by the Commission in due course, and it was advisable to let the matter stand until the Commission had made its report.

Mr. LAU CHU-PAK intimated that the matter had better be considered by the Commission.

The minute was laid on the table.

CONCRETING GROUND SURFACES.

(Correspondence was submitted relative to the concreting of ground surfaces at No. 114, Bonham Street East.)

Mr. LAU CHU-PAK wrote on behalf of the agent for the owner of those premises requesting the Board to withdraw a previous notice regarding concreting as the owner had been put to too much unnecessary trouble and expense.

The PRESIDENT intimated: The Board agreed at last meeting that this question might be referred back to the surveyor, Mr. Carter, to say whether two inches of cement on top of the present tiles (or some similar modification of section 3) would meet the case. I have interviewed Mr. Fung Wai-pak, and Mr. Chan Ching-ling, and I found that one of the foremen interpreters for drainage works, a Chinaman drawing $20 a month, has been looking for work for a drainage contractor, and after consulting with the Crown Solicitor I have dismissed this man.

The surveyor reported opening the ground surface of the house in question in two places, and finding the lime concrete in very bad quality. He recommended that the owner be called upon to reconstruct the whole of the ground surface of the main room, but recommended that no further action be taken with regard to the yard, as the surface had already been repaired.

Mr. HOOPER intimated: This is eminently a case for the Commission. It is a great pity that the President dismissed the foreman before the Commission had examined him. This had better be discussed at the Board meeting.

Hon. Mr. HEWITT: These papers are to be sent to the Commission.

Mr. LAU CHU-PAK: This sort of practice which is so annoying and expensive to house owners should be stopped in future. All the irregularities reported by the owners should be specified in one notice, so that owners can have them all attended to at the same time, and on no account should inspectors be allowed to take with them contractors or foremen on their visits, and to tell people which contractor to engage. In this case the inspector should be called upon to explain why he recommended Chan Hing-kee to do the work, and when he left why he allowed the foreman to stop behind to bargain for the work.

Members decided that this matter should be dealt with confidentially.

MOSQUITO INFESTED.

Mr. P. W. Goldring wrote a lengthy letter to the Board relative to the necessity of filling in a pool on Crown land adjacent to K. I. L. 193. The following are extracts:—I have now been a tenant of "Parkside" since November 1st, and have no hesitation in saying that although I have lived in various parts of the Colony since 1901, I have never experienced anything approaching the numbers and virulence of the mosquitoes which abound. There are many causes which might account for this, but with due submission I consider there to arise largely from the very extensive excavations and cuttings which have been made in order to lay out the new roads in Kowloon, but mainly from the fact that there is a large pool of water which was formerly a fish pond, which simply teems with larvae of various sorts. This pond apparently is on Crown land, and for the health of the many neighbouring houses, quite apart from my own personal feelings and the feelings of my fellow-messmates, I would ask that the Sanitary Board should investigate the matter.

Mr. HUMPHREYS intimated: Surely this must be a matter for the P.W.D. and not the Sanitary Board.

Hon. Mr. HEWITT: The Sanitary Board are now admitted as having control over nuisances on Crown lands. The pool should certainly be filled up, and I would suggest that the Hon. the Director of Public Works applies for a grant for this purpose.

Hon. Mr. BREWIN: How was the pool formed; in consequence of work done by the P.W.D.?

The A.M.O.H. reported: These pools have in some degree been formed by the making of the new roads which are raised to a higher level than the surrounding ground. They will be very much worse when the rainy season sets in, and will undoubtedly be a breeding place for large quantities of mosquitoes. The filling in of these pools to the level of the adjoining roads is the only satisfactory course which could be adopted.

The PRESIDENT wrote as follows to the Director of Public Works: Can you fill in all of these pools that are on Crown land before we get any warm weather? If by raising the road your Department has caused pools to form on private land, I am afraid we may have trouble in trying to force owners to abate any nuisance caused thereby. Is there any arrangement whereby the pools on private land may be similarly filled up as part of the anti-malarial measures paid for by Government, with the consent of the owners, of course?

The DIRECTOR OF PUBLIC WORKS replied that one pool was on private ground, and had been there ever since he could remember. Another was on ground of which the lessee was the Roman Catholic Bishop. Steps were being taken to have it filled. Another pool was due to the construction of the road in a great measure, but all this low-lying ground had been a swamp for many years, and much of it had been improved by being filled. There were no funds available for the filling of the latter pool at present.

With regard to another nuisance reported by Mr. Goldring, the PRESIDENT wrote to the A.M.O.H.: The military officials naturally say that the offence is committed by civilians, of whom there is a large number in Kowloon. Can you not catch anyone in flagrante delicto and hand him over to the nearest constable? I don't want street fights, however, over it.

The A.M.O.H. replied: As the offenders would be Indians—whether civil or military—I do not see how we could catch anyone without a street fight. Sergeant Appleton's experience seems conclusive. But I understand the military authorities have a pipet—surely this pipet could arrest civil or military, or could distinguish between the two and report.

The PRESIDENT: I think the proper procedure is for this Board to recommend the Government to authorise the Director of Public Works to incur the necessary expenditure, involved in filling up this pool. Certain neighbouring land-owners were called upon to fill up pools in consequence of mosquitoes breeding there, and if this pool were not filled up their work would have little effect.

Mr. HOOPER: Don't you think it would be more in order that a printed form be sent to the Director of Public Works calling upon him to do the work in the same manner as the adjoining owners would be called upon? When he got it he could plead as a pauper and ask the Government to get him out of a difficulty by doing the work at once (laughter). They would surely do it.

The PRESIDENT: I don't think we have authority to serve a notice on the Director of Public Works.

Hon. Mr. HEWITT: Most certainly we have. If we find the Director of Public Works to have committed a nuisance we can call upon him to remove it.

The DIRECTOR OF PUBLIC WORKS read a section of the Ordinance stating that a general notice should not apply in cases of works belonging to the Crown, and stated that although His Excellency had given instructions that Government buildings might to some extent be supervised by officers of the Sanitary Board, still the Ordinance exempted Government officials from the procedure of having notices served upon them.

Mr. HEWITT: I beg to differ from the Vice-President, and would refer to the Attorney-General's opinion. He has advised the Sanitary Board that Crown lands come under the control of the Sanitary Department as much as private lands; therefore the Director of Public Works is altogether wrong when he says they are not under the same control as private land-owners. They had it in writing from the Law Officer of the Crown.

Mr. HOOPER: Perhaps I might find a middle course and say that instead of using our printed forms—which some people consider offensive, and no doubt they are (laughter)—a letter be typewritten calling the attention of the Government to this nuisance and informing them that as similar nuisances on land owned by private individuals immediately adjoining this have had to be dealt with by the Board, and the owners compelled to remedy them, that they asked the Government to do the same.

The PRESIDENT seconded, and the motion was carried unanimously.

SCAVENGING CONTRACTOR'S GRIEVANCE.

The scavenging contractor forwarded a petition to the Board, from which the following extracts are taken:—The rubbish was always taken to the place mentioned in his contract, but it was possible that the coolies dumped a few baskets overboard within the boundaries of the harbour. Last month when the police boarded a dustboat to arrest some of these coolies they were like wolves and tigers and the people escaped as best they could. One man who jumped into the water to escape was drowned. Some of the coolies were arrested and taken before the Court, where they were each fined $50 or imprisoned for two months. The men could not pay the fines and the contractor was not able to pay for them.

Mr. HUMPHREYS intimated: When will the refuse destructor come into operation? There will always be trouble under the present system.

Mr. F. J. BAILEY: The contractor made the contract with his eyes open and knew what he had to do. If he allows his coolies to dump the rubbish in the water as a set-off for underpayment he deserves to suffer for it. It is a matter of great difficulty and some expense to catch them in the act, and when they are caught it is not the least imposing a nominal fine. He ought to employ a responsible man to make the coolies do what they are required to do.

Mr. LAU CHU-PAK: The contractor has his own reason to grumble, as he has to pay fines so often both for himself and his coolies and other unnecessary expenses which absorb all his profits. In my opinion the last part of clause 22 of the scavenging contract is bad, and should be deleted in the next new contract. So long as the contractor is required to send his boats to Chinwan Bay, it is impossible to prevent dumping, and that clause can never be properly enforced. The remedy for the present state of affairs will be to so amend the next contract as to make the contractor provide large seagoing junks, properly decked and locked, and engage launches to tow them out to sea to dump the rubbish, pending the erection of the refuse destructor.

Hon. Mr. BREWIN: I agree with Mr. Lau Chiu-pak. I dislike the idea of entering into a contract on terms which you know the other party cannot fulfil. Enquiries should be made as to the probability of the contractor of carrying out the contract in the present manner, and of carrying it out properly. It will then be seen whether there is any reasonable prospect of the contract being carried out satisfactorily with credit to the contractor. Occasional infliction of heavy punishment is a very antiquated way of securing observance of the law. The proper way is to maintain adequate and constant supervision.

The PRESIDENT: The present contract expires at the end of the year, and the Board will have an opportunity of discussing the conditions of the next contract probably in September. I don't know whether it will meet your views to let the matter stand over till then.

Mr. BREWIN did not think the present was a day too soon to consider this question. He moved that a sub-committee be appointed to consider the contract to see whether any amendment could be made.

Mr. LAU CHU-PAK seconded, and the motion was carried.

The Hon. Registrar-General, Mr. Lau Chiu-pak and the Medical Officer of Health were appointed a sub-committee to go into the matter and report.

HARMFUL OR BENEFICIAL.

A letter was submitted from Messrs. Palmer and Turner relative to the provision of gutters to the floors of balconies, which they regarded as being receptacles for dirt and garbage in the usual type of Chinese houses.

Mr. SHULTON HOOPER: Should not this complaint have been addressed to the Building Authority as coming under Part III?

Mr. H. HUMPHREYS: Why not ask the Director of Public Works and the local architects whether in their opinion any necessity exists for clause 9 of schedule G? What is the use of having regulations that do more harm than good?

The PRESIDENT: Members would notice a letter in the papers last night complaining bitterly that a sufficient number of gutters and down-pipes were not provided for verandahs in this Colony. Evidently there are two sides to this question. Personally I agree we could do without a good many of these gutters which are used for a purpose for which they were never originally intended. We might ask the Director of Public Works for his opinion on the subject.

Mr. HOOPER: As I said on my minute, I don't think we have any jurisdiction whatever in this matter. It devolves on the Building Authority and was not for wasting our time in discussing it. If we did, one of the most flagrant cases is the building we are now in. The only shoots it has are those which would shoot out water and make everyone wet as they go to church on Sunday morning if the building were washed at that time.

The PRESIDENT: I think we are quite entitled to discuss the suggestion because it is made on sanitary grounds.

Mr. HOOPER: I don't think so myself. I think we should refer the matter to the Building Authority and ask him to attend to it, as it is within his jurisdiction and he might take offence if we interfered (laughter).

Members agreed.

OVERCROWDING.

The number of persons displaced as the result of prosecutions in respect of overcrowding in the city of Victoria during June was 323, the greatest number, 82, being in No. 7 district.

A GREEN ISLAND NUISANCE.

The Colonial Secretary wrote to the Board pointing out that the manure from the animal depot at Kennedytown was deposited on Green Island, where it was a nuisance and great pest to the quarters of the lighthouse etc., and requesting the Board to suggest some other place for the disposal of such manure.

The PRESIDENT intimated an opinion that some bay on Kowloon side would be more suitable.

The VETERINARY SURGEON recommended that a small bay in New Kowloon be used for the purpose.

A suitable place is to be procured.

INSANITARY VILLAGES.

A detailed report by Dr. PEARSE, into the state of the villages of Tai Hang and Wong Nei-cheong, to which Mr. Hooper had called attention, was read. He made suggestions for improving the condition of the pigsties in Tai Hang and pointed out that repairs to the foot-path would remedy the complaint with regard to the hydrant in the pathway in Shepherd Street. With regard to methods used for the reception of clothes prior to their removal to the city for ironing and folding, it would be difficult to prove their use as domestic buildings. He remarked that a good deal might be done to improve surface drainage, while with regard to two buildings originally built as pigsties, and occupied as domestic buildings no pigs had recently been housed therein. In conclusion, he said that some houses appeared overcrowded, the nullah certainly needed training and the road and vacant ground in front of New Tai Hang was swampy and needed levelling and draining.

With regard to Wong Nei-cheong, he stated that he had not found any pigsties used as domestic buildings, while the roads and pathways about the houses where there was much traffic needed better surfacing and surface draining. The supposed leper was probably a leper, but for absolute diagnosis he would need to be examined in hospital. The pigsties were in the same state in this village as in Tai Hang. If the narrow winding paths between the pigsties in these villages were concreted the dirt accumulating there could be easily removed, and if that were done it would be a good thing to have a resident in each village who would be responsible for seeing that his fellow villagers did all they could to keep the place clean. The reason why the pigsties were in their present condition was that No. 1 district having been without an inspector for three months the licences were not renewed but kept back until there should be opportunity to get the styes in order. The provisions of the law as to window areas, external air, concreting of ground surfaces and overcrowding had not been enforced in these villages. The villagers would probably be ruined if they were enforced.

The report is to be considered.

GOVERNMENT RECOMMENDATIONS.

Discussion took place on the reply from Government relative to the recommendation in connection with the Estimates for 1907, but as the papers were not available to the Press we are not in a position to give a report on the subject.

NEW BRITISH CRUISER.

LAUNCH AT DEVONPORT.

The first-class armoured cruiser Minotaur was launched in Devonport Dockyard last month, the naming ceremony being performed by the Earl of Crews, who was accompanied by the Countess of Crews, Lord President of the Council, and Lady Cynthia Crews-Milnes. The Lord President was received by a guard of honour of four hundred seamen of the gunnery ship Candour. Among those on the launching platform were Admiral Sir Lewis Beaumont, commanding Plymouth Naval Station, and Lady Beaumont; Rear-Admiral Barlow, Superintendent of the Dockyard; Mr. George Crocker, Manager of the Constructive Department; Vice-Admiral Sir A. G. Curzon-Howe, Flag-Captain S. R. Fremantle, Flag-Captain A. Ricardo, Inspector-General F. G. Chilton, Mrs. Gamble, Miss Lieutenant F. G. Rawson, General Sir Reginald John Leach, commanding the Plymouth Coast Defence, and Lady Leach, Mr. J. R. Marshall, Director of the Dockyards, and his assistant, Engineer-Commander Goodwin, the Archbishop of Totnes, Lady Jackson, Colonel F. Briggs, Devonshire Regiment; Colonel L. Nixon, Rifle Brigade; Colonel P. P. Dore, Devonport; Captain Ewart, of the cruiser Paros; Captain Marescaux, of the cruiser Europa; and Major-General Grove, commanding the Eighth Infantry Brigade.

At the close of the religious service conducted by the Rev. G. H. Marwood, Chaplain of the Dockyard, the Countess of Crews named the vessel, and after being presented by Mrs. G. Crocker, Renthwaite, granddaughter of the cord which held with a bouquet, she reversed the cord which held the last dogfishes, and the cruiser glided into the Hamoaze, the longest and heaviest cruiser yet launched. Admiral and Mrs. Barlow were afterwards "at home" to a large party at the superintendent's official office.

LATEST STEAMER MOVEMENTS.

GOLD MINES OF FORMOSA.

Mr. Acting-Consul Crowe, of Tamsui, has written a report on this subject which is published as No. 619 of the Foreign Office "Miscellaneous Series." He says:—

Although gold appears to have been discovered for the first time in Formosa as far back as the fifteenth century, and its presence known to the Dutch as well as to Koxinga's retainers during their occupation of the island, it is a curious fact that the Chinese were unaware of the wealth which lay near them until 1890, when, during the construction of the Taipeh-Kooling Railway some of the coolies working near the Keelung River came across a few particles of the glittering metal. From then onwards Chinese came over from the mainland in large numbers and the placer mining along the Keelung River and in the Kyufun Hills became an important industry, although little attention was paid to quartz mining. In 1895 the Island of Formosa was ceded to Japan, and the gold districts became the property of the Japanese Government; in 1896 the Formosa Mining Regulations were issued, which provided for the granting of mining permits, stipulated for the deposit of guarantees ranging from 240 to 2,500, limited the occupation of mining to Japanese subjects only and imposed a tax of 44 per 1,000 square yards per annum. In October, 1896, the first licences for quartz mining were granted to Mr. D. Fujita, a wealthy man from Osaka, whose claim is situated at Kyufun, while a few days later Mr. Tanaka obtained a similar grant for the Kinkasiki mines. Permission was given to Mr. Kimura in 1898. These three mines, are contiguous to each other and are situated some 10 miles or so to the east of Keelung; they are the only ones at present worked in the island and will be dealt with separately in this report. Licences for claims in Gilan and Taita sub-provinces, on the east coast of the island, as well as in Torku and Shinko, have also been granted, but work

KING ALFONSO'S ACCOUNT OF THE BOMB OUTRAGE.

COURAGE OF THE QUEEN.

It is not the custom in the Spanish Court for the King when he grants an audience to concede an "interval." A constitutional monarch, and a strict observer of the precepts of the Constitution, King Alfonso is not in the habit of expressing a judgment. For this reason I did not dream for a moment of attempting to obtain this Majesty's opinion of the distasteful crime committed on his wedding-day, nor even of asking for an audience. At the present time the King is fully engaged with his guests, and every minute of the day is occupied. Any such request on my part, therefore, would not have been granted.

But as it is of interest to know how Don

Alfonso described the moment of the explosion and the effect which it produced on him, I call upon a consanguineous friend with the Palace, and on occasion to find among them one who had
